WELLSPRING LIVING-LEARNING COMMUNITY APPLICATION

Wellspring is a unique opportunity for first year students who love community service and want to make it an important part of their life during college. Students selected for the Wellspring program share a residence hall with other first year students interested in service; participate in monthly fun and fellowship programs as a community; engage in large-group service projects two or three times each semester; and spend two hours each week volunteering with one of the College's community partners (e.g., tutoring at an elementary or middle school, serving lunch to homeless guests, working in a community garden, building a Habitat house). Many Wellspring students become community service leaders for the entire Millsaps campus.

Students who have read the program description and commitments above and are interested in joining the Wellspring Living-Learning Community should submit this completed application by June 1st. Successful applicants will be notified by phone or email in mid-June, at which time they will be asked to accept or deny admission into the Wellspring program. Applicants who wish to room with a particular person should encourage that person to apply for the program as well; then indicate your rooming preference on your applications.
